Reducing the risk of theft

In this current climate travel plans and priorities may change but the risk of theft remains the same.

Motorhome theft is something no owner wants to go through so we've created a list of handy tips for you to secure your motorhome during this time.

Here's what you can do to reduce the risk of motorhome theft

- Wheel clamps: Are a highly efficient way of immobilising your vehicles and reducing the likelihood of theft.

- Steering wheel locks: A great visual deterrent which can vary between a padlock, chain, circular lock or even a bar-lock.

- Gear locks: This allows you to lock the gear stick to the hand brake.

- An alarm: This is more of an audible deterrent for your motorhome. The siren is normally located under the bonnet and is activated when the vehicle door is opened. This kind of alarm usually comes with a window sticker that you can position appropriately to advertise that your vehicle is alarmed, which encourages the would-be thief to move on elsewhere.

- An immobiliser: This helps you particularly if a thief gains access to your motorhome, ensuring that they can't steal it. Each time you switch off your engine, the immobiliser will automatically activate. Most immobilisers enable dual-circuit immobilisation to frustrate any efforts to start the engine by hot-wiring.

- A tracking device: This device will help to monitor your vehicle 24/7. If stolen, a signal is sent by remote control to a control centre, locating the missing vehicle and most likely the thieves that took it. Pro-active tracking devices have a proven track record in recovering stolen motorhomes. Because of this, you could gain substantial motorhome insurance savings.

- Using a CaSSOA (Caravan Storage Site Owners' Association) accredited storage site: This can give you total peace of mind minimising security risks to your motorhome with features such as full perimeter fencing, lockable gates, CCTV and monitored entry and exit of the site.
